

Homicide: The Game Presents Painseeker

“Raising Chicks”
by David Vanderhoff

This photograph is from Raychel’s birthday in 1973. One of her presents that year was this batch of hatchlings. You can see one of them in the box. Our father may have taken care of them, but Raychel was their sponsor, helping our father feed them. We always had livestock for pets. It seems straightforward until the “pet” is grown. Have you ever seen your pet get decapitated? We did, several times. That is life on a farm.
